History

The Delphic Games are, historically speaking, a peace-making competition of the arts.

They took place in ancient Greece for almost 1000 years, one year prior to the Olympic Games and had at the time a similar level of importance in society. The Games were organised by the Amphictyony, forerunner of the UN, with the aim of creating/preserving PEACE.

Modern Times

First Youth Delphic Games 1997, Tbilisi, Georgia. First Delphic Games (adults) 2000, Moscow, Russia. Meantime 8 Delphic Games, Junior Delphic Games, Summits and Conferences took place worldwide.

European Initiative

The Launching of the EUROPEAN DELPHIC GAMESS will take place 2022 – 77 years after the end of World War II – Start-up for Peace. Patronages: Mr Antonio TAJANI, President of the European Parliament (2017); Mr Karl-Heinz LAMBERTZ, President of the European Committee of the Regions (2019); Mr Luca JAHIER, President of the European Economic and Social Committee (2019); Ms Elena KOUNTOURAS, Minister for Tourism of Greece (2017); Mr Kostas BAKOYANNIS, Governor of Central Greece (2017).

After their start, the European Delphic Games are held every two years in different European countries. The focus is on strengthening Europe. The aim is to use art & culture & education strategically to address citizens emotionally, to make them aware of the common values / common history, to actively involve civil society.

51 Countries – 1 Europe

European countries in alphabetical order

Europe is a unique continent with 51 countries, cultures, traditions and a common history over the centuries. Europe is not surrounded by water; it has a continental border with neighbouring Asia. The definition of a real border between two continents was a big question for geographers and politicians – culture and history are smoothly linked.

Nowadays geographically, it is commonly defined by the Ural Mountains in Russia, the Caspian Sea and the Caucasus Mountains.

Brief Summary

Vision

- To set a practical floor for arts, cultures, education and its protagonists like artists, teachers, jurors, politicians public and private officials, sponsorship, agents, media and communication.
- To set a platform similar to the Olympic Games for sports, bringing people together across the globe through enthusiasm, the Delphic Games are to unite people of all nations and cultures through fascination for the arts.
- To provide human beings of all ages all over the world access to culture and art as a basis for emotional understanding among each other.

History

- The Delphic Games took place parallel to Olympic Games in ancient Greece and were celebrated one year prior to the Olympic Games for about 1000 years - until both games were banned as heathen Games in 394 BC.
- The Olympic Games for sport revived with the founding of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) 1894 in Paris – 1500 years after the ban.
- With the founding of the International Delphic Council (IDC) in Berlin in 1994 – 1600 years after the ban – the Delphic Games for Arts and Culture were revived.

Aim

- To make Art and Culture an important part of our everyday life
- To change our social behaviour based on awareness of other cultures
- To integrate Art and Culture in the life-long education process

Advantages – regional, national, international, worldwide

- ARTISTS – new, unique way to present their Art and Culture;
- ART FEDERATIONS – first interdisciplinary forum and network to guide and share their skills and arts in competitions, presentations and exhibitions;
- PEDAGOGUES – possibility to test the artistic skills, education methods and a comparison of results of their students;
- EDUCATIONS – a new structure in arts & culture by uniting tradition and contemporary skills as well as strengthening identity and cultural heritage;
- AUDIENCE – participation “live or digital” in evaluating artistic contributions – wherever Games take place;
- CONTINENTS, STATES, COUNTRIES, CITIES – media presence as host of arts & culture, and image gain through partnerships and civil society engagement;
- MEDIA – platform for new formats and communication in six Delphic Art Categories increasing cultural values in the „Edutainment“ market;
- ECONOMY – marketing platform for transparent investments and sponsoring including media and entertainment industry.

Unique Features

1000-years of History

In 582 B.C. the first Pythian Games took place in Delphi. 394 A.D. they were forbidden as pagan games by Emperor Theodosius I. After many years of preparatory work to revive the Delphic idea, J. Christian Kirsch organized the founding congress of the International Delphic Council (IDC) in Berlin. The participants came from 20 countries on five continents. The IDC was constituted on December 15, 1994.

Delphic Symbol

consists of six coloured interlaced semicircles which are designed within a circle on a white background symbolizing the unity between the six Delphic Art Categories – (1) Musical Arts & Sounds, (2) Performing Arts & Acrobatics (3) Language Arts & Rhetoric, (4) Visual Arts & Handicraft, (5) Social Arts & Communication and (6) Ecological Arts & Architecture.

Delphic Poet

Reminiscent of the great poet of ancient Greece, to whom we owe the knowledge of the Delphic Games. The relevant Application Committee appoints a well-known writer or journalist from the host country to explain and disseminate the knowledge of the Delphic Games and their significance.

Castalian Spring Ceremony

has to take place about six months prior to the Delphic Games / Junior Delphic Games. Water is the symbolic element. A delegation of the host country travels to Delphi, Greece, to deliver water from the holy Castalian Spring, its place of origin, to the host city becoming part of the Opening Ceremony to purify the Games.

Agora

In ancient Greece, the agora was the central festival, assembly and market place of a city and thus an important social institution as well as a characteristic feature of the Delphic Games. Today, the traditional and contemporary visual and craft arts are presented and demonstrated here, showing the range of artistic creativity. At the same time, the Agora is an artists' meeting place as well as the information and press centre.

Opening Ceremony

is to give a bright picture of the arts and cultures of the host country and reflect its traditions, values and creativity.

Main-Program

includes competitions, presentations, exhibitions and short film documentaries.

Framing-Program

consists of artist forums, lectures, talk rounds and discussions as well as Gala-Shows – as not being part of judging and evaluation.

Closing Ceremony

is to reflect a combination of the artistic skills of the host nation combined with the most exceptional artistic contributions during the Games.

Common Ground

Delphic Art Categories & Disciplines – traditional & contemporary

Years of research preceded the founding of the IDC. Which art categories can/should form the basis for the Delphic Games of the Modern Era and thus establish the link between past and future, between tradition and modernity?

Writing about the past is not enough to inspire the present generation and future generations. As a result, traditional arts were assigned to art categories (1) to (4) and modern arts to newly defined categories (5) and (6):

Musical Arts & Sounds

Singing and instrumental Music, Electronic sounds.....

Performing Arts & Acrobatic

Dance, Show Dance, Theatre, Circus, Puppet play

Language Arts & Rhetoric

Poetry, Writing, Storytelling, Children literature, Translation of scripts, Audio-Play Production, Moderation

Visual Arts & Crafts

Painting, Graphic, Sculpturing, Installation, Photography, Film, Design, Fashion, Instrument maker, Woodcarver, Engraver, Jeweller, Embroiderer

Social Arts & Communication

Rituals, Community plays, Internet, Media, Education Computer games, Pedagogic, Didactic, Native Games ...

Ecological Arts & Architecture

Landscape, City, Village design; Preservation of Nature, Urban planning, Buildings, Monuments; Parks, Playgrounds

Delphic Time Journey

Review – until 1993

80s Years

- J. Christian B. Kirsch supports singers, dancers and painters. Frequent participation as an observer at international music competitions. His experience / research leads him to the realization that there are serious differences in training and further education methods between the USA, Europe, Asia and above all Germany.

1984

- JCB Kirsch develops a concept to promote further education in music and dance entitled "Olympic Music Games".
- He presents this concept to Prof. Dr. Hellmut FLASHAR, Dean of the Faculty of Philosophy at the Ludwig Maximilian University in Munich. "What you describe has more to do with the Pythian Games in Delphi than with Olympia" is his comment.
- The Delphic Games are taking shape.

- After two audiences, Her Majesty Sofia QUEEN OF SPAIN advises JCB Kirsch to go to Greece to start the Delphic Movement from there.
- JCB Kirsch contacts Federico MAYOR ZARAGOZA, Director-General of UNESCO and Juan Antonio SAMARANCH, President of the IOC, congratulates Mr Kirsch in a personal letter on 16 June.

1989/1990

- JCB Kirsch lives, works and does research in Greece – including six months in Delphi.
- He is a consultant for cultural policy and economics and seeks the advice of personalities such as Melina MERCOURI, Tzanis TZANNETAKIS, Niki GOULANDRIS, Mikis THEODORAKIS and Dora BAKOYANNIS;
- Collaboration with Stavros XARCHAKOS, composer, conductor and politician

1990

- JCB Kirsch is working on a concept for the reintroduction of the Delphic Games and presents the idea to the Greek Minister of Culture Evangelos VENIZELOS.

1991

- Contact Dr. Ehrhard BUSEK, Federal Minister of Science and Research in Austria.

1993

- Meeting with Jacques TOUBON, French Minister of Culture and Francophonie; Faruk HOSNY, Egyptian Minister of Culture; Dr. Nasser EL ANSARY, Chairman of Egypt's National Cultural Centre; Nikolai GUBENKO, Minister of Culture of the Soviet Union and Federico MAYOR ZARAGOZA, UNESCO Secretary General.
